NEWS ITEMS OF INTEREST

George Hilton, the postmaster of South Carsonfield, Mo., is 81 years old, and has occupied that position since 1850.

The Hon. John A. Cuthbert of Mobile is still practicing law in that city, although 61 years old. He was an officer in the war of 1812, and was elected to Congress from Georgia in 1819.

John Cox, the Pennsylvania abolitionist, whose house before the war sometimes concealed as many as twenty runaway slaves in one night, and whose golden wedding was celebrated in verse by Whitman and Bayard Rustin, has just died at the age of 94.

Mrs. Clark of Indiana was thoughtless enough to present her husband with a petition signed by herself and her seven children praying for a new calico dress. Mr. Clark thereupon threw the petition under the table and his wife sat at the window, and now she is a cripple for life.

The Denis family at Beaumont, Ill., found bits of glass in the sausage at breakfast, and that day the children's teeth crunched powdered glass in their luncheon at school. The mother confessed that wishing her relatives to die in the most horrible manner possible, she planned to kill them with the glass.

The Marvellous Mesmeric Power of an Indian.

Strange stories come from India of the feats performed by a native mesmerizer named Buni, whose magnetic power would appear to be found quite irresistible by the lower animals, upon which he exclusively exerts it. He gives séances, to which the public are invited to bring all manner of ferocious and untamable wild beasts, and holds them with his glittering eye. In a few seconds they subside into a condition of cataleptic stiffness, from which they can only be revived by certain passes which he solemnly executes with his right hand. A snake in a violent state of irritation was brought to Buni by a menagerie proprietor, enclosed in a wooden cage. When deposited on the platform it was writhing and hissing fiercely. Buni bent over the cage and fixed his eyes upon the serpent's head. In less than a minute the snake stretched itself out, stiffened, and apparently died. Buni took it up and thrust several needles into its body, but it gave no signs of life. A few passes then restored it to its former angry activity. Subsequently a savage dog, held in the leash by his owner, was brought in, and, at Buni's command, let loose upon him. As it was rushing toward him, bristling with fury, he raised his hand, and in a second the fierce brute dropped upon his belly as though stricken by lightning. It seemed absolutely paralyzed by some unknown agency, and was unable to move a muscle until released from the mesmerizer's spell by a majestic wave of the hand.

Believing From Business.

A. Strassburger & Co. will sell their mammoth stock of dry goods, fancy goods, carpets, etc. regardless of cost within the next sixty days. They have decided to retire from business, and will not refuse any reasonable offers for their goods. Now is the time to secure bargains, and the public should take advantage of it to save over 50 per cent. by buying of A. Strassburger & Co.

WHAT OF IT?

It is rumored that the GAZETTE's editor is Land Appraiser for that corporation and receives a salary of $520 a month. Is this true? If it is not a fact the Appraiser will willingly publish the editor's denial.—Appal.

Correct, with a slight confusion of figures. The proprietor does the same work for the same pay (not a cent more nor a cent less) that he did for years before he owned the GAZETTE. The GAZETTE does the same as it would if he did not work for the Land Department. There is no connection between the Land Department and the Law Department of the railroad, and no connection between the newspaper and the land business of the proprietor of the GAZETTE.

A QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE

The Carson Appeal hauls the editor of the GAZETTE up to the bar of public opinion and insists upon his replying to the grave charge of receiving a salary from the land department of the Central Pacific Company. But one answer is possible. The editor is forced to plead guilty to the enormous crime. For the last five years he has made a good living, by exchanging his labor and business judgment for Central Pacific gold. This would, perhaps, not have been so bad, if he had not tried to bring some of his earnings from that source into the pure atmosphere of Nevada journalism. To have a man who had once soiled his hands with a brake wheel, and later had made time cards and signed passes for members of the press, force himself into the select circle in which the refined, educated and patriotic editor of the Appeal moved, was not to be endured. He must be squeaked. The Appeal and one or two other high-souled contemporaries undertook to show him, and the people of this state, his place. Strange to say, however, the popular verdict has not been exactly satisfactory to those who have had the contract. The GAZETTE has gained more subscribers in the last year than any paper in the state; and the support it has received from the whole coast has been excellent. Whether those who have devoted so much time to proving the heinous nature of our crimes have been going up or going down is to us unknown; but we would hint to them that pulling others down is not to build themselves up. The arguments they have used on the railroad question would have been more in place in a barroom than in the columns of a newspaper. We have recognized, with them, that the people of Nevada have many things to complain of from their railroads, but we do not agree with them on the remedy. We had a plan which has always been successful whenever it has been tried. They had no plans except a general cinch, such as would ruin state and railroads together. Because we have not stood with them in their bitter and reckless assaults upon capital, they try to make people believe that we are corrupted by our connection with the land department. We have only to say that we are willing to live or die by our writings and acts, public and private, during the time we have lived in Reno.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Stock Report remarks that some of the objections to the road locomotives in Nevada, are easily disposed of. "If there is water enough for an eighteen-mile team, there is water for the steam wagon. If a mule team can haul water to supply itself over the long dry stretches, so can the wagon."

This raises the question whether the eighteen-mile team requires more water in a given distance than the steam wagon. The mules certainly have an advantage of the locomotive in one respect. The mule can travel for an indefinite time and distance without water, but if the steam wagon runs short of water it must stop short and wait until the mule team hauls some to the place or, drag it to the next station. The interesting sight may soon be witnessed near Washoe, of one of the new road engines in tow of a mule team. Anyhow, the mule can get along with less wood than the engine.

A Washington correspondent gives this description of the man who has been the favored Democratic candidate for the Presidency: "He is tall, broad-shouldered man, full six feet in height. He has a high, square forehead; sandy, dark-brown hair, with but little gray in it. His eyes are bright, fishy-blue, deep set, under projecting eye brows. His nose is a clean Roman. His lips are thin and decisive in their shape. His chin prominent and closely shaven. His complexion is highly colored. He is one of the few Senators who wear light-colored kid gloves on the street, and pay that marked attention to dress expected of an exquisite society man. His coats are always double-breasted frocks."

Congressman Daggett will do a good work for Nevada if he gets lien laws for the school sections. We hope, however, that he will not abandon the experimental artesian well. It seems to us to be of immense importance to have the possibility of flowing wells established. If we cannot get both, let us have the well and trust to the future for cheap lands.

The surprising news comes from Mexico that no revolution is going on there at present. The Mexicans are however reconciled to the situation by the consideration that Gen. Gonzales, who commands 8,000 troops, may "pronounce" if he does not win the coming Presidential election.

The Sentinel declares that Eureka should be the place of meeting for the Democratic Convention because that town is "very near the geographical center of the State." But it is not a question of geographical position. Reno is nearer the center of population and the political center of Nevada than Eureka is.

Senator Sharon says he is willing to resign if his constituents call upon him. Let us by all means call upon him to do so. It seems to us that that would be a good way to settle the question. If it is left to the next Legislature Mr. Sharon can be re-elected by paying for it.

The San Francisco Stock Report of the eleventh devoted more than a page of its space to an article descriptive of the Columbia mining district, in which Candelaria is situated. Candelaria bids fair to have a boom this spring.

An Austin sinner has begun a course of readings from Bob Ingersoll's "Gods and other Lectures," at a saloon in that town. The readings are delivered at a stated hour every evening, and will be continued until the volume has been read through.

We misconstrued the Tribune's remarks in reference to the proposed disincorporation of Carson. The Tribune states that it is unalterably opposed to disincorporation.

The Alta remarks: Mr. Sharon's little speech on capital and labor was perhaps more laborious than capital.

A Boston man has invented a fraud-proof ballot box. What we want next is fraud-proof voters.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

Eleven suicides committed in Leadville during the six months ending March 1.

The snow has lain on the ground for three months in the vicinity of Grass Valley.

Near Poso Creek station, Kern county, last week Wednesday, a man, name unknown, threw himself under the cars of the C. P. R. R. and was killed.

Much sickness prevails in Grass Valley. Three young ladies in their teens and a young man are lying at the point of death with typhoid pneumonia.

During Monday night's storm a Chinaman named Sing Pang, living at Willow Valley, Nevada county, was killed by a falling tree which crushed his cabin.

About two feet of snow on a level, on the shores of Lake Tahoe, says the Tribune. More snow is said to have fallen in the region of the lake this winter than ever before known by the oldest inhabitant.

Reported that the surveyors for the Bodie road were not permitted to run the lines across the Walker Liver Reservation, and consequently a temporary halt will have to be made until the right of way can be secured.

After next Monday any person "who hunts, pursues, takes, kills or destroys quail, partridge or grouse, mallard, or wood, or summer duck, red-head, gadwall, or gray duck, or blue-winged teal, is guilty of a misdemeanor."

In the Upper Napa Valley, Knight's Valley and the surrounding hills and mountains, milks and miles of fence were blown down by Monday's gale, and scattered about the fields. Much time and cost will be necessary to make good the loss on this item alone.

The Humboldt county boys, says the Signal, have been making war upon the mud-hens, which do much damage to the young grain. They have slaughtered some 600. One morning, after the sun had thawed the surface sufficiently to make it slippery, one of them went out with a four-horse driving whip and killed nearly a hundred with that alone. It seems that when mud-hens, like men, stand on slippery places, they are an easy prey to their adversaries.

NEWS NOTES

Bernard Biglin went home from a carnival at Vernon Hill, Neb. "expressly to have some fun with the old man," his father. He began by pulling his aged parent out of bed and compelling him to dance a jig barefooted on the cold floor. Then he commanded his father to stand on his head but the feat was beyond the old man's power, and the son had begun to whip him for failing, when his mother, a stalwart sort of woman, bounced out with a chair and knocked him senseless. Bernard's skull was broken and he came near dying.

It gives the Austrian Emperor great pleasure to see her children ride well. Her only son, the young archduke Rudolph, is one of the best and boldest riders in Austria or Hungary. A foreign potentate lately complimented him on his horsemanship. "How could I be a bad rider?" he said; "am I not a Hungarian and the son of my mother?" His father, the Kaiser, is also an excellent horseman. Their youngest daughter, the charming little Archduchess Valeria, gratifies her mother also by the wondrous progress she has made in the riding school, although only twelve years of age.

The Poor Czar cannot be shielded from the meddlesome pranks of the Nihilists. When he wakes in the morning he finds revolutionary documents on his dressing bureau. When he opens his mail he reads menacing letters written on black-bordered paper. When he goes to the theatre he draws from his pocket with his handkerchief a revolutionary manifesto. Is it strange that he distrusts everyone in his service?

There are measles and to spare in the Soldiers' Orphan Home at Normal, Ohio. On Friday of last week the first case was reported, and by Saturday night there were fifty cases. At noon, Sunday, there were 150 cases, and Sunday night almost 200. There are only 325 inmates in the Home, all told.

An Absent-Minded Man.

From the Butte City Index.

It was a wild-eyed man who rushed around one of Butte's hotels last Thursday morning searching for his overcoat when the coach he wished to reach was just starting. He tumbled around the valises behind the counter, rushed backward and forward between his room and the office, and finally as the coach went off and left him, he would have whipped the proprietor, only in the act of doing himself for the job he discovered his overcoat had been on his back all the time. He was so mad he refused two distinct invitations to take something.
